

6. Locate a current paper, professional, psychology journal article on any topic and provide the following information. (The Psychology Linkways to Information sheet has a list of journals).

Title of psychology journal _____

Author(s): _____

Title of article: _____

Number of references at end of article: _____

7. Conduct at least three searches in the EbscoHost periodical database using terms and phrases describing your topics, e.g. "self concept" or "violence in domestic relationships." Note: You may need to try different terms, combinations or types of searches or databases to find the best articles. Hits are the number of article citations found by the search.

Search 1: _____ Hits: _____

Search 2: _____ Hits: _____

Search 3: _____ Hits: _____

Electronically add 3-5 citations to the folder, print out a free working bibliography and attach it to this Pathfinder. Uncheck "full text" in the Print Manager so you don't print the full text of the article. Note: You may also print out the full-text of the articles at $.05 per page for yourself.

8. Consult the Thesaurus of Psychological Index Terms, located in the reference stacks (REF Z695.1 P7 T48 2001); Service Desk and online at JCTCS LRC web site: Electronic Databases > Journals & Magazines > EbscoHost > PsychINFO (green tab) Thesaurus. List 2-4 of the standard subject heading(s) for your topic:

a. _____ b. _____

c. _____ d. _____

9. Conduct a search in the EbscoHost > PsychINFO journal database (citations and abstracts only) using one or more of the subject headings above. Print out at least ONE, free citation and attach the printout to this pathfinder.

10. Identify one additional source (book, newspaper article or website) on your topic and properly cite it using the APA style. (See the APA Style Sheet for citation models or the JCTCS Library's Research Help > Writing Assistance)

11. Briefly describe what you learned about research, psychology or your specific topic by completing this Pathfinder. _____
